Bus Sense

Your March 1 edition carries a report that states that Arlington County Board member David L. Krupsaw has opposed the use of the new parkway extension by the Washington, Virginia & Maryland Coach Co. to run buses to the new CIA site at Langley, Va.

I see absolutely no reason for this opposition. The Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Bus Co. operates from the south end of the 14th street bridge in Arlington County to Mount Vernon on the same parkway. It should be pointed out that buses will not slow down the flow of traffic, but will actually help it to a certain extent during rush hours by lowering the number of cars on the highway.

This bus service will also make it easier on those who want bus transportation from the District to the new CIA site so that they can relax en route to and from work.

VICTOR FETTER.
Arlington.
